FedGroup provides our investors with simplicity in a complex industry by making our investments as transparent and simple as possible. This fixed-term investment provides a fixed interest rate, with zero fees for investors. We also give you the flexibility to choose between investing for capital growth or earning an income.

Growth option

Earn a higher rate by reinvesting all your interest each month for maximum capital growth. At the end of the term, you can choose to withdraw your investment, or reinvest with us.

Income option

We pay you the monthly interest on your investment to create an additional income stream. You earn a lucrative return on your investment, while your capital is secure for the full term. This option also gives you the freedom to draw only a portion of your interest, combining the benefits of a monthly income with investment for growth.

What are Participation Bonds?

A Participation Bond is an investment that combines consistent returns with capital security. The structure that supports our Participation Bonds is a collective investment scheme. It is therefore subject to the same strict regulations from the Financial Services Board as unit trusts, making them low-risk investments.

How can there really be no fees?

FedGroup charges no fees on your investment amount or your interest. Our income is earned from the bonds we manage in the fund. Who should invest in Participation Bonds? Participation Bonds' combination of consistent returns and capital security is popular with South Africans who are looking for a lump sum investment, regardless of age and income. Our diverse investment base includes individuals, pension funds, fund managers, trusts, charities and schools.

How secure is my investment?

The investment is secured against the bonds we issue. We also have additional security in place to ensure that we always pay our investors. In the 26 years that we have offered this product, our investors have always received their monthly income while their capital remained secure.

How will I be taxed?

Once your interest income is more than your tax threshold, tax on interest income will apply. This tax rate is determined by your income tax status.
